ANNUAL MEETING BOARD OF TRADE NEXT TUESDAY

AT THIS TIME OFFICERS AND BOARD OF DIRECTORS WILL BE ELECTED.

All Members Are Expected to Be Present.

The annual meeting and election of officers and directors of Grayling Board of Trade will be held at the Board of Trade rooms Tuesday evening, November 21. At this time there will be reports of officers and other important matters to come up.

Every member, and this should include every business and professional man in our city, should make it his business to be present. Much of the future prosperity of Grayling depends upon the Board of Trade, and its mission is a responsible and important one to every property owner and resident who may have an interest in the future of our city. If we are satisfied with the way in which the officers and directors have conducted the affairs of the board during the year just closing, let us all attend and reassure them of our hearty backing and co-operation. If we are not satisfied, this will be the time to be there and offer criticisms and suggestions. Such remarks will be welcomed and appreciated.

The AVALANCHE feels that the present regime is on the right track and should be encouraged. While perhaps not slight substantial results, in the way of securing future industries have matured, we feel that an extension of time should be accorded President Peterson to finish the work he has started. He has made a definite and determined effort to accomplish things and we believe is on the right course for getting results. Others may differ in some degree with this opinion, and a fair, honest discussion of the matter will be welcomed and desired by all members.

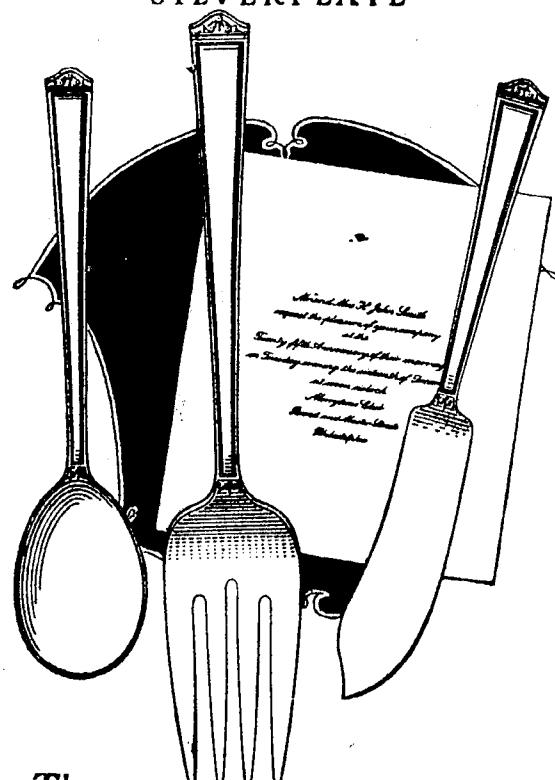

Keep the date in mind—TUESDAY, NOV. 21, and be sure to be there.

Subscribe for the AVALANCHE.

P.O.P. BOTTLE OF FRESH NOOSE

The Freshmen entertained the Sophomores Friday evening at the High School Gymnasium. Dancing was the main event of the evening, the music being rendered by Miss Genich's Syncopators. Later a delicious lunch was served. The party was well planned by the advisor and the members of the Freshman class. A very nice time was enjoyed by all.

James Richardson came home Saturday with a big buck. How about a venison supper some night, Jimmie?

The next number of the Lyceum Course will be Dec. 13. Lockhart and his Scotch Lassies will entertain.

Don't miss it.

Quarterly examinations were held Nov. 8th to 10th.

Most of the students had their overcoats on in the Assembly Monday morning. Rather chilly, wasn't it?

We wonder when we will have a game of Basket Ball, pretty soon we hope.

Almer Smith of East Jordan visited our school Monday.

Miss Gideon—Devere, where are the islands of Hawaii?

Devere (waking up)—What?

Miss Gideon—Hawaii?

Devere—Oh, I'm afraid thank you.

Teacher—"Where was the Declaration of Independence signed?"

Fresh Freshie—"At the bottom."

Edgar—Did you know that Irving talks in his sleep?

Beatrice—No, does he?

Edgar—Yes, he recited in class today.

Claribelle—I see in the paper that there has been a sale of a Chinese pitcher for $425.

Emerson—He must of been a very poor pitcher.

Marion—Clarence, do you know what makes hair red?

Clarence—Yes, most all pine stumps get struck by lightning.

Teacher—Ivan, what is 2 and 1?

Ivan—A shoe polish.

Our Breakfast Foods.

Cream of wheat—Seniors.

Ginger Snaps—Juniors.

Vim—Sophomores.

Shredded wheat—Freshmen.

Man (in drug store)—I want some consecrated lye.

Stanley—You mean concentrated lye.

Man—It does nutmeg any difference that's what I camphor, what is sulphur?

Stanley—Fifteen cents, I never cinnamon with so much wits.

Man—Well I should Myrrh, Myrrh, yet I ammonia novice at it.

Freshie—When I die I want to be put in the fire place.

Sophomore—Why?

Freshie—So that my ashes may mingle with the great. (grate.)

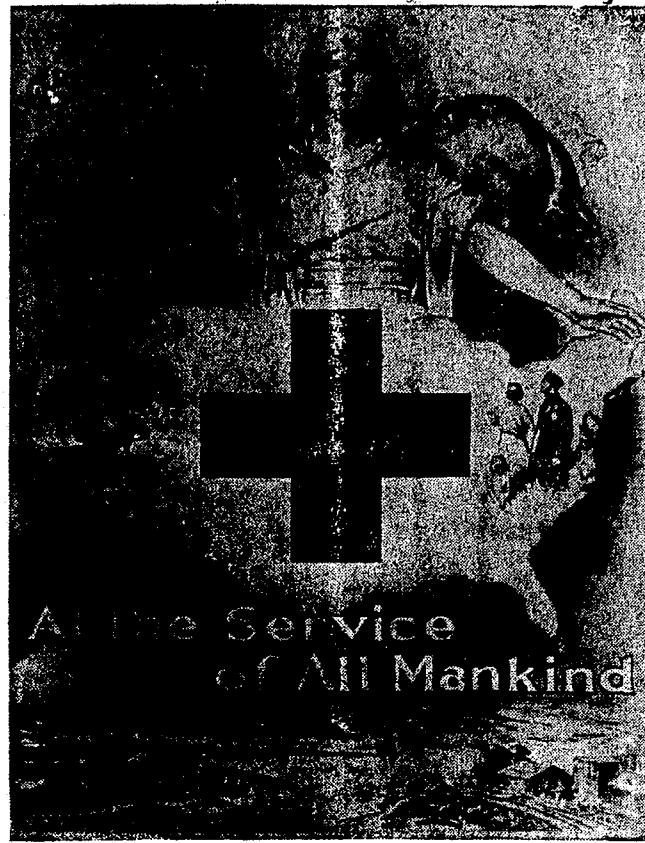

Our Magazines.

Grit—Maxwell Yahr.

Outlook—Fern Hum.

Popular—Beulah Collen.

Greenbook—Eunice Schriber.

An allegorical concept of the Red Cross as a peace-time ideal is employed by the American Red Cross in a new and striking poster for its Annual Red Cross Roll Call. Spread out before the heroic size figure of the United States with a Red Cross superimposed upon it while around its borders are sketched scenes depicting the chief activities of the Red Cross today—service to disabled veterans of the World War, disaster relief and promotion of the public health. The poster is the work of Lawrence Wilbur, a New York artist and will be displayed throughout the country during the enrollment of the Red Cross membership for 1923.

History teacher—Tell us one of the events of Roman history with the date.

Finley—Mark Antony went to Egypt because he had a date with Cleopatra.

Ruth Lovely has returned to school.

Miss Shaw is out of school on account of illness.

There will be a musical program Friday afternoon in the auditorium. Miss Genich has charge of the entertainment. All parents are welcome.

Miss Kerrigan is steadily improving from her recent operation.

Viola and Wilson Mason have left school and will enter school in Detroit.

Last Friday evening, Mrs. Gibbons entertained a number of guests in honor of Miss Woodward, it being her birthday. A very enjoyable time was had by all.

Mr. Bailey, county agent visited the agriculture class during the week. Come again Mr. Bailey.

A boys' glee club is being organized. Better sign up.

TWO LUCKY NEIGHBORHOODS

On Tuesday and Wednesday of next week two lucky neighborhoods will have the pleasure of meeting with Miss Marian Rogers, Household Management Specialist, from Agricultural College, as we are told by County Agent R. D. Bailey. Mr. Bailey says that Tuesday's meeting will be held in the Benedict School near the Joseph Barton and Jens Hanson farms.

The district officers have kindly consented to allow the teacher to close school so she and the older girls can attend.

Wednesday's meeting will probably be held in Maple Forest Town Hall.

Pot luck dinner served at both meetings which are intended for women and older girls, begin at 10 o'clock, and closes at three and will be repeatable each month during the winter.

Mr. Bailey, who has secured Miss Rogers tells us that he has great hopes that the ladies will find attendance at these meetings a pleasant break in the monotony of the winter.

For a Better Town

Conducted by Grayling Board of Trade.

There is no small city or town in the United States so favored as Grayling. A Modern Board of Trade can ascertain the latent resources of the Community and work unceasingly to develop them. There is no reason why Grayling should not become the WONDER small town of the country.

Grayling has possibly been quiet for a long time and there may be a reason for it. But we have no reason to be ashamed of the advantages we have to offer, the man who is looking for a place to locate his home or his industry. A real Board of Trade develops Community leadership. Wasn't it wonderful during the war when there was a demand for leadership that leaders appeared from all points of the land. We need that leadership now as much as then. The Board of Trade will build up the civic pride and give aggressive aid in all community work. It will create high ideals of citizenship and this is important because the town is no better than its men—the soul of the town is the character of its men. The Board of Trade is able to set aside a portion of its activities for the envisioning of the short comings of the Community and to work to eliminate them. Under the Board of Trade these evils can and will be eliminated. It can ascertain the latent resources of the town and work to develop them.

Our interests are interwoven, the well being of one is that of the whole. The well being of the community effects each of us. It is vital for your happiness that what men talk about on the streets shall be healthy, for what men think and talk about vitally effects our community and our country. We must keep their thoughts and their talk clean, healthy and constructive.

The Grayling Board of Trade is for the elimination of lost motion and to be successful the Board of Trade must have as their ideals, service and unselfishness. Men of all classes of society, of political faiths and of religious creeds must meet together for the benefit of the community. The only criterion of the organization must be "is it right for the Board of Trade to do this?" that is the way they function today and that is the reason they succeed.

The Board of Trade has come to stay. Its success lies in the idea of teaching people to think not of themselves first but of our community—not how it will effect you personally but how it will enhance your value and help your friends, etc. The modern idea is that men from all walks of life shall meet together and exchange ideas.

One of the first things we must have for a successful Board of Trade is a fiscal year. The organization must have a budget for it must not spend more money than it has. It must also have an adequate income which means more members.

The old boards of trade had no definite goals but merely waited for something to happen in which they could help. They could not succeed in that manner. They must have a definite program of work. This program should be developed in a democratic way for a board of trade can only succeed if it does what its members want to do. In order to find out what these things are men will be called together to discuss the problems of the community and to plan those things which you want done. That is the way you build into the future.

Committee organization and control is necessary for the success of the organization, but, not standing committees which do nothing but stand! It is the members of the Board of Trade who run it under the direction of the Board of Directors. Those who are interested in the various features of the program of the work will be placed on committees, and by hard, consistent, earnest work, by study and analysis, the problems will be solved.

A DUTY TO YOUR CITY.

Don't go into the Board of Trade for what you can get out of it but for what you can put into it. All that you have got for Grayling—give Grayling what you can, etc. Let your motto be "Grayling has made me; I want to help make Grayling." Cities grow men as we want to grow. Your Board of Trade must be a watch tower of opportunity, but it must also be a watch tower to prevent those things which are bad for the community.

GIVE THE COMMITTEE THE GLAD HAND WHEN THEY HAND YOU AN APPLICATION FOR MEMBERSHIP.

R. D. BAILEY

County Agricultural Agent

LIMESTONE

FARMING

Are You Encouraging Them?

The County Commissioner of schools and the County Agricultural Agent are trying to push instruction in the underlying principles of agriculture in the schools of the county.

We both believe that this effort has common sense back of it.

We believe that the future of Crawford County lies in agriculture. If this belief is correct, then it is reasonable to hold that those who are to conduct that better farming of the future should have training in underlying principles of farming if they are to do better than their parents, which any observant and thoughtful parent will certainly wish his children to do.

Each generation should stand on the shoulders of the generation before. Roosevelt truly said: "If you are going to do anything for the average man, you have got to start before he is a man. The chance of success lies in working with the boy not the man."

So the Commissioner and I are asking the teachers of the county to do more with the subject of agriculture than they have been doing.

We have provided each teacher with a simple outline of things to be taught about farming this fall, and with a lot of bulletins in which to find material to teach.

Later, we will provide them a simple outline of things to be taught during the winter.

Teachers who really want to will find a place for agriculture in the daily program.

Teachers who want to side-step this practical subject will easily find excuses for so doing.

Teachers can just as well prepare to teach the principles of agriculture as to teach geography or history; and, if they go at it with gumption, can make the subject of agriculture very interesting, because there is so much at hand, and in the pupils' experience, which reference can be made.

I hope that each parent and school officer will lend his support to this valuable work in our schools.

Parents can do so by asking children what they are studying about in agriculture; listening in an interested way; helping them find answers or material that the teacher asks them to get at home.

School officers can help by talking with the teacher about the work, encouraging her, helping her find illustrative material, speaking to the school on some topic of farming, and by letting the teacher feel that she is expected to do as good work in teaching agriculture as in teaching arithmetic.

Why shouldn't she? The child will doubtless use in life more of the agriculture than of the arithmetic.

That the Commissioner and the County Agent are not crazy may be gathered from the following letter from the Assistant Superintendent of Public Instruction:

Lansing, October 19, 1922.
Mr. R. D. Bailey,
County Agent,
Crawford, Michigan.
Dear Mr. Bailey:

I have your fall bulletin on work in Agriculture for the rural schools. I wish to congratulate you and Mr. Payne upon this plan and the splendid outline that has been prepared. I hope that this idea may be disseminated among county agents and county school commissioners as it is a co-operative enterprise that is very much worth while. We need to vitalize the work in Agriculture and the county farm agent is in position to render splendid service in this connection.

With best wishes, I am

B. J. Ford.

A Pay Day Every Week.

Under the above heading the County Gentleman recounts the story of a farmer and his wife who bought a 40-acre farm seventeen years ago, paid for it, and have since added to it another 160 acres. The wife, in describing their struggles, wrote as follows:

"The garden, chickens, cows, hogs and small fruit—enough for home use and some to sell—made a pay day every week. And we have always had a good living."

The County Gentleman then goes on to say:

"There isn't anything spectacular about that sort of farming—no big killing, but few foreclosures of a mortgage either. Just the safest kind of farming is all. This farmer's wife added in her letter that their house is equipped with electric lights and a modern water system. They are trying to make their house a whole comfortable home."

The above is just what I have been doing. When do you plan to fall in line?

Deserves the Medal.

Tanlac Put Him Back on Job, Says Davis

"I've never been much of a hand at praising medicines, but I can certainly say something good for Tanlac," said Geo. Davis, 110 Naglee St., San Francisco, Calif.

"I had a bad case of ptomaine poisoning and it came pretty near laying me out altogether. For three months I was in an awful condition and suffering constantly from diarrhea. I became weak all over and was going from bad to worse. I tried everything I knew of, but it was beginning to look like nothing would ever reach my case.

"Then, a friend of mine recommended Tanlac to me. And it's a fact, four bottles have made a clean sweep of my troubles and built me up to where I feel like a new man. I am working every day now and when it comes to recommending Tanlac I can't put too strong."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

DYED HER BABY'S COAT, A SKIRT AND CURTAINS WITH "DIAMOND DYES"

Each package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions for simple dyeing of woolens, cottons, and faded things now. Even if she has never dyed before, she can put a new, rich color into shabby skirts, dresses, waists, coats, stockings, sweaters, coverings, draperies, hangings, everything. Buy Diamond Dyes—no other kind—then perfect home dyeing is guaranteed. Just material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton, or mixed goods. Diamond Dyes never streak, spot, fade or run. —Advertisement.

Milk for the Baby. Two-year-old Betty had always used a special brand baby milk but recently has been drinking very little, preferring the more solid foods. Is that calf's milk?"

The City Man's Garden

The city man's backyard garden is an inherited expression of the crop-growing instinct. What of the man who hates gardening and flower planting? He probably likes to roam in the woods and fish—a throwback to ancestors who lived by fishing and hunting. They were roamer, unlike the soil tillers. Another type in spring goes crazy on sport. If they could trace their family trees far enough, they'd probably find gladiators and professional soldiers at the roots. Nature intended all men to be tillers of the soil. Wondering therefrom, we have economic and health problems that result from congestion. From these we revolt in springtime—revert to type fish, roam, plant vegetables, trees, grass and flowers.

Deft Fingers Help Santa

To Screen the Phone

Little conveniences that adorn the house carry messages of good will at Christmas time. A phone screen covered with plain and figured cretonne, and providing a place for records of telephone numbers and calls will be welcome to men and women alike.

Ever Welcome Bags

Christmas time is the springtime of bright cretonnes when they blossom out into all sorts of ingenious and beautiful gifts. The picture shows a work or shopping bag folded and unfolded. It is merely a capacious oblong bag of cretonne, with small envelope, bound with braid, sewed to one side, and, by means of snap fasteners, it can be folded and converted into a pretty shopping bag.

This Year's Camisoles

Every Christmas brings its camisoles and this year's are the daintiest ever. Many of them are made of net and lace, like the model pictured here; others, less transparent, of crepe de chine, satin, wide ribbons or georgette. Baby ribbon adjusts them at the bust line and flat elastic at the waist. They are easily made and are lovely gifts from woman to woman.

For Men or Women

Christmas brings its pretty candles gayly decked out this year with sealingwax flowers, or painted and gilded. They make lovely gifts for men or women, and so will the ribbon or cretonne-covered picture frame, fastened to a glass front and cardboard back with gold braid binding. The cardboard back is cut out to form an easel support.

EXCITEMENT IN THIS GAME

When a lively diversion is wanted for the Christmas guests, try "Cat and Mouse," really a children's game, but played with enthusiasm by older people. A circle is formed. One player is selected as "cat," and another as "mouse." The cat endeavors to catch the mouse, who runs into the circle and out again. The players assist the mouse in its escape by allowing it to pass freely under their arms into the circle, or out of it; but they try to

Gay Little Pin Trees

We can help start the new year right by giving Christmas gifts of little pin trees to our women and girl friends. Two corks and a florist's pin, sharpened at both ends, make the foundation for the pin tree illustrated. The large cork—of wood—is painted green and the smaller cork is gilded. They are joined by the long pin, and into the gilded cork many pins, with colored heads, are thrust, to form a tree. A band of baby ribbon, tied about the larger cork, holds small safety pins.

Smart Nanette Fans

These brilliant little Nanette fans began their careers humbly in France, one of them as a plain, small palm leaf and the other as a plaited fiber fan. By means of paint, satin ribbons, organdie or millinery flowers they have graduated into the smart set and will accompany gay frocks to joyous parties. One of the fans pictured has a shirred binding of ribbon in green. Its handle is bound with ribbon, finished with a loop and organdie roses in soft colors adorn it. Painted flowers or millinery flowers and foliage adorn the plaited fan and ribbon covers its handle.

Among House Slippers

Most people look to Santa Claus to provide them with house slippers and he always carries a generous supply of all kinds in his pack. This year you will find among them beautiful bedroom slippers, like those shown above, that are made of ribbons and adorned with little ribbon flowers.

To Remember the Baby

Everyone wants to remember the baby and here are two bibs for him, one of them made of pink and white Turkish toweling and the other of honeycomb cotton. The square bib is bound with tape which provides the ties and the edges of the smaller bib are finished with a shell crochet of mercerized cotton.

hinder the progress of the cat as much as possible, lowering their arms as he tries to go in and out of the circle while pursuing the mouse.

The End of Porterhouse

When serving short steak or T-bone steak, do not fry the tough ends. Instead cut them off, and the next day make an excellent soup from them. All that is necessary to add to the broth is a carrot, a potato, an onion, a little rice and a few tomatoes, and you have a soup fit for a king.

There is much uniformity in the smart styles designed for juniors, but unending variety in the details of making and trimming them. One-piece, straight-line frocks divide popularity with those having a long-waisted bodice and a gathered skirt and frocks of a single material are not more plentiful in the displays, than those having of the school curriculum as are higher mathematics and the languages. This insistence for physical culture and open air sports is not without its effect in fashion's realm.

With women prominent in tennis court, golf grounds, playing hockey, basket ball and the like, style exploitation has become part of the play. We take delight in dressing to "look the part," pictorially speaking, and it goes without saying that one's wearing ap-

DAIRY POINTS

BUTTER RATED FOR QUALITY

Producers Lose Much Money Because of Imperfect Conditions and Methods in Making.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

If you are a producer or manufacturer of butter, were you disappointed in the price you received for that last shipment? Quality is the chief factor in determining butter prices, and according to United States Department of Agriculture circular 230, just issued, even small defects in quality may result in the loss of a sale or a cut in price.

Several million dollars annually are lost to producers and manufacturers because of imperfect conditions and methods in production, manufacture and marketing of dairy products, the circular states. During 1920 the marginal difference in the prices of high and low quality butter amounted at times to as much as 15 cents per pound.

Cheap Material.

"Your honor, when we were married my wife said I was her soulmate."

"Yet, there she stands, charging you with nonsupport."

"I do," spoke up the wife. "I soon discovered that he had a marked down soul, and it was no bargain, either."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Cuticura for Sore Hands.

Soak hands on retiring in the hot suds of Cuticura Soap, dry and rub in Cuticura Ointment. Remove surplus Ointment with tissue paper. This is only one of the things Cuticura will do if Soap, Ointment and Talcum are used for all toilet purposes.—Advertisement.

Not for Discussion.

"I understand your campaign fund is quite large."

"Let's change the subject," interrupted Senator Borgham. "It isn't large enough to be worth mentioning."

It is stated that there has never been a time in the history of American butter making when it paid so well to produce high-quality butter as during recent years. But to secure the best quality butter is the secret.

The circular enumerates and describes the various factors such as flavor, body, color, salt and package that influence price. These factors are given specific ratings by local and federal butter inspectors, and receivers, in determining the final score of the product, and the ratings are governed by the absence or presence of certain defects described in the circular.

THANKSGIVING DAY PROCLAMATION.

By the Governor.

"Enter into His gates with thanksgiving, and into His courts with praise: be thankful unto Him and bless His name."

We have come again to the season of the year when, in accordance with the devout custom established by our fathers more than three centuries ago, we formally set apart a day of thanksgiving and praise to Almighty God for all His mercies and blessings.

We have every reason for thankfulness. Our fields and orchards and vineyards have yielded richly of their products. Our people have been sober, industrious and steadfast. Industry and enterprise have translated the varied and unlimited resources of our commonwealth into wealth and happiness for all who have had the initiative and the capacity to do and achieve. While we face a new day big with many perplexing problems, may our faith in the integrity of American institutions be re-dedicated to the government which has always symbolized the best that has been achieved since the struggle for representative government began.

Therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in me as Governor of the State of Michigan, I hereby join the President of the United States in designating Thursday, November 30th, 1922, as a day of Thanksgiving and prayer.

Alex J. Groesbeck, Governor.
By the Governor:
Charles J. De Land,

Secretary of State.

FREDERIC SCHOOL NOTES.

The musical entertainment to be given by the Frederic school was postponed last week on account of a number of pupils who took part having colds. It will be given Friday evening, November 17th.

Money is being collected this week for the Red Cross fund, and we hope our school will prove to be 100 per cent.

It has been formally decided by the faculty that Esther Barber has too many followings.

Miss Craven—Kenneth tell me what you can concerning the life of Shalmane.

Kenneth White after a long silence why...he...died.

Miss Craven—Yes, Kenneth the most of them did.

Mr. Payne—Gertrude you will have to write this essay again and in writing it you must be more careful in the use of punctuation marks.

The next day the essay was handed back with no commas, periods, etc., in it. Below this note was written: "Now salt and pepper that to suit yourself."

The students have made a serious charge against our janitor, Mr. Lehman, that he beat them out of one minute of time during the noon period and they have demanded that this minute be given back. This the janitor resolutely and stubbornly refuses to do.

The case will be tried before Judge Higgins and the students are looking forward to complete satisfaction.

After securing the services of a detective it has been proved beyond contradiction that Mr. Higgins sold the students soap at the time of Hallowe'en with the express understanding that they were not to use it on his windows.

FUNCK SCHOOL NOTES.

The world is so full of a number of things, I'm sure we should all be as happy as kings.

—Robert Louis Stevenson. A spelling contest between 5th, 6th, and 7th grades was won by a fifth grader.

Our production maps are finished, and they are fine. Come and see them.

Ernest Corwin is absent today on account of illness.

Everett Corwin needing a piece of leather for his production map asked if he might cut a piece off his tongue (shoe tongue).

Today marks the beginning of Hot Lunches.

We are planning on having a Thanksgiving program on Nov. 29.

We had a cleaning bee on Wednesday night as there were two bottles of milk, some kerosene and a bottle of red ink spilled that day.

On Monday we are going to begin physical training so we may keep in trim for our work during the winter.

Vella Hermann, teacher.

BEAVER CREEK SCHOOL NOTES.

We enjoyed a marshmallow roast one warm afternoon.

For busy work the little folks are making jointed animals and Mother Goose toys.

We are having hot lunches at school every day and we surely enjoy them. The parents are all interested and are furnishing us with lots of good things to eat.

Miss Judy, the Red Cross visiting nurse was with us one day this week. We enjoyed her visit very much. She found several of us underweight, but we are all drinking at least a pint of milk each day and hope to gain in weight soon.

Annabel Harris told us in Geography class that the whale is prized for its fur.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for the kind acts of sympathy and for the beautiful floral contributions sent at the time of the funeral of our son and brother.

Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Barnes,

Mr. and Mrs. James Howse

and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Penn.

FREIGHTER SINKS IN LAKE MICHIGAN

NORDLAND'S CREW OF 19 FORCED TO ABANDON BOAT DURING STORM.

LOSE BATTLE TO STOP LEAKS

Men Worked for Two Hours in Icy Water; Craft Sinks 15 Minutes After Desertion.

Milwaukee—After being buffeted by a heavy storm for two hours, springing four large leaks in her hull, the Nordland, package freighter of the Chicago and Milwaukee Steamship company, carrying a cargo of merchandise valued at more than $500,000, sank eight miles off St. Francis, near here, in Lake Michigan Monday afternoon.

The officers and crew, 19 in number, took to the small boats 15 minutes before the ship sank and rowed safely to shore despite a strong wind and high waves.

The ship left Chicago for Milwaukee the night before, but due to the gale which was sweeping the lake, put in at Racine and the trip continued in the morning. After leaving the harbor the ship began to take water through a leak in the after hull and sprung seams.

For two hours the men worked at the pumps, standing at times more than waist deep in the icy water, when Captain Smith, seeing it was impossible to bring it ashore, ordered the men to the oars. The vessel sank 15 minutes after the second boat had been lowered.

The Nordland was of wooden construction, of 700 tons capacity and 33 years old. It was her first voyage under her present ownership.

The Nordland was known as the Eugene Hart until it changed hands recently when the name was changed.

AGENTS MUST HAVE WARRANTS

U. S. Commissioner Rules Dry Navy Makes Illegal Arrest.

Detroit—Search and seizure of rum-laden craft on the high seas, otherwise the Detroit river, is unconstitutional, according to an opinion given by United States Commissioner J. Stanley Hurd Monday afternoon, unless the officers have previously secured a search warrant or actually see the liquor on board.

This decision was given in the case of Andrew Richardson and George Quamby, who were found transporting in a motor launch 37 cartons of bottles said by the federal officers to contain beer. Enforcement agents peeped through the portholes and saw piled up cartons. This, they argued, justified them in making the seizure.

Louis W. McClellan, attorney for the defendants, claimed that the sight of the cartons was not in itself proof that the owners of the craft were violating the law.

GREEKS RALLY TO FIGHT TURKS

Commander Issues Orders for Complete Mobilization.

Dedeagatch, Western Thrace—The Greek high command is prepared to defend with all its resources the line of demarcation set forth in the Mudania armistice agreement.

General Nider, the commander-in-chief, made a tour of inspection along the western bank of the River Maritsa, which marks the boundary of Eastern Thrace as turned over to the Turks, and determined upon the defensive measures to be adopted.

He has issued orders for complete mobilization of the remaining army in Western Thrace, which numbers up to 50,000 men.

LAW ON VACCINATION UPHELD

Supreme Court Rules Unvaccinated Child Can Be Barred.

Washington—States and municipalities have the right to enact vaccination laws and ordinances and to exclude from public schools pupils who refuse to submit to vaccination, the supreme court of the United States decided Monday.

The court's decision came in the case of Rosalyn Zucht, a young girl of San Antonio, Tex., who carried her case through the state courts and to the highest tribunal after the public school authorities of that city excluded her as a pupil because she did not have a vaccination certificate.

READY TO FORM THIRD PARTY

Senator Borah Says Existing Parties Must Renounce "Sins."

Washington—Senator Borah, of Idaho, one of the outstanding liberals of the Republican party, is ready to go before the country in 1924 for the formation of a new political party unless either of the existing parties purge themselves of their "sins," and the senator sees no likelihood that this will be done.

The Idaho senator just returned from the west and let it be known to his close friends that he believes the time is ripe to strike for a third party movement.

HOW NOT TO TAKE COLD.

Some persons are subject to frequent colds, while others seldom, if ever, have a cold. You will find that the latter take good care of themselves. They take a shower or cold sponge bath every day in a warm room, avoid over heated rooms, sleep with a window open or partly open, avoid excesses, over eating, becoming over heated and then chilled and getting the feet wet. Then, when they feel the first indication of a cold, they take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy without delay and it is soon over.

The family were on their way to Ann Arbor for dinner with friends and as they neared Second street, Mr. Michelson who was driving, noticed an automobile that was coming toward them at enormous speed, and a street car was coming at the same time. Concluding that it was better to get out of the way of the racing automobile, he collided with the street car, it catching one front wheel and carrying the machine 50 feet down the track. Mrs. Michelson was the most severely injured, her collar bone being broken and was very badly bruised and shaken up. For several days she was under the care of a trained nurse. Mr. Michelson who was thrown against the windshield received some bad scratches and bruises and also their son Frank Jr. was badly bruised. Louis and Ned escaped with slight injury.

A TIMELY SUGGESTION.

This is the season of the year when the prudent and careful housewife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed before the winter is over and results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the first indication of a cold appears and before it has become settled in the system. There is no danger in giving it to children as it contains no opium or other harmful drug.

Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Michelson left Tuesday morning by motor for Detroit for the winter.

Robert Johnson of Houghton Lake has been in Grayling the past few days on business.

The ladies of the L. N. L. are being entertained this afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. J. Heric.

Edward Waldron arrived home from Lansing Friday afternoon to visit his mother Mrs. Charles Waldron.

Isaac Gendron, who is employed in Flint has been spending several days visiting his mother Mrs. David White.

Mrs. Frank Barnes and children have returned to Battle Creek, after coming to Grayling, to attend the funeral of Mr. Barnes.

Mr. and Mrs. Marius Hanson are pending the week in Detroit, leaving last Saturday. Miss Lucille has been the guest of friends in Detroit for the last fortnight.

Miss Doris Woodward, commercial teacher in the local schools, was the guest of honor at a dinner party at the home of Mrs. Edward Gibbons Saturday evening, the affair being a surprise to celebrate her birthday anniversary.

Mrs. Clara McLeod left Friday afternoon for Detroit to visit her daughter Mrs. Curtis. Mrs. McLeod expects to spend the winter away from Grayling dividing the time among her daughters who reside in Bay City, Detroit and Adrian.

The editor and his wife disagree with each other very materially. She sets things to rights and he writes things to set. She reads what others write and he writes what others read. She keeps the devil out of the house as much as possible, while he claims him and could not go to press without him. She knows more than she writes and he writes more than he knows, says an exchange.

Tuesday evening Mrs. Wm. Havens was pleasantly surprised when a number of her friends came to help her celebrate her birthday. Five hundred was the chief entertainment for the evening and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Havens, Mrs. Efner Matsen and Mrs. P. P. Mahoney. A delicious luncheon was served, at the close of the luncheon Mrs. Fehr in behalf of the ladies honored Mrs. Havens with a beautiful gift.

Armistice day was modestly observed in Grayling this year. In the afternoon there was a parade of school children, led by the Grayling band. In the procession there were many flags and banners. The Red Cross, whose annual roll call began that day, was also conspicuous in the parade with Red Cross banners. It is always inspiring to see school children on parade, carrying flags, and this time was no exception. The affair was planned on short notice and was very creditable under the circumstances. The absence of flags among the business places and the homes was very noticeable, but we are sure it was because of no sense of loyalty or patriotism—just a little thoughtlessness, perhaps.

Last Sunday was Red Cross Sunday, Saturday opening the 6th Annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross. America owes a big debt to this splendid organization whose operations extend from coast to coast and from the Great Lakes to the Gulf. The value of its ministrations to our people cannot be stated; they are priceless.

Wm. H. Cody, Dr. J. J. Love, Geo. Burke and Geo. Sheldon are enjoying their annual deer hunt in Bergland in the Upper Peninsula and if they follow the example set in former years they will all come home having filled their licenses.

Word received Sunday night by the Lansdowne family announced the arrival of a daughter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Robinson of Detroit. Mrs. Robinson was formerly Miss Lillian Lansdowne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Lansdowne of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. John Billings and family who have been making their home in Saginaw for several weeks arrived in Grayling Saturday to pack their household goods. The family left Tuesday to make their home in Saginaw where Mr. Billings is employed.

Miss Ruby Olson accompanied by her brother Ernest left Thursday night of last week for Detroit where she has accepted a clerical position. Ernest will also remain in Detroit. Miss Olson recently completed a commercial course at the Bliss-Alger College Saginaw.

Supervisor M. A. Bates and Road Commissioner J. J. Niederauer attended a joint meeting of supervisors and road commissioners of Oscoda and Alcona counties held in Harrisville Tuesday, in interest of the cross state trunk line highway reunion from Traverse City to Harrisville, passing thru Kalkaska, Grayling, Mich. and other places.

N. M. James reports that someone broke into his farm home near Cheney Nov. 3, while he and his wife were away from the house, and ransacked everything about the place. He says that he is missing a box of matches, a black and green checked flannel overshirt, and a pocket dictionary. They broke open a trunk but appears to have taken nothing from it. Mr. James says he believes it must have been a couple of tramps. While the loss is not great he feels that he cannot afford such a loss. He says he has reported the matter to the sheriff.

Miss Emma Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Johnson and Mr. Frank Fitzgerald, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Fitzgerald of this city were united in marriage at Grand Rapids, on November 1st. Relatives of the young couple were in attendance, and the wedding the simple was a very pretty affair. Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald had their home all furnished and ready to go to housekeeping at 1067 Ionia Street, following their marriage. Both young people have been employed in Grand Rapids for some time, the groom being foreman over a crew of men employed as boiler testers in the Grand Rapids yards of the Pennsylvania railroad. They have the best wishes of their Grayling friends.

Red caps and coats are popular embellishment upon our streets these days. Hundreds of hunters are in the wilds of Crawford county in quest of the stately stag. The absence of the snow thus far has made hunting not easy and reports of having a deer "hung up" are not coming fast. However it is believed that there are antlered deer enough to fill the license of the persistent hunter.

The "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," shown at Grayling Opera house Wednesday night is claimed by many to be the finest picture ever shown in Grayling. A capacity audience was deeply moved and thrilled and watched the picture in almost breathless silence for about 2 hours and a half. It carried throughout a very pleasing setting, thrills and deep emotionalism. The acting and the photography were wonderful. This fine picture will be shown here again tonight (Thursday). There will be one performance, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

Editor O. P. Schumann attended a conference of newspaper publishers at Bay City last week Friday night. This was held for the purpose of promoting greater and more determined interest in NorthEastern Michigan, a part of which is Crawford county, 16 counties making up the area. Plans are under way to publish monthly magazine supplements pertaining to the resources and opportunities offered among the several counties. These publications are to cover a period of 16 months. Efforts will be made to make these publications self supporting so that none of the funds of the Development bureau may be needed. Crawford county, in common with the other 15 counties, has many splendid opportunities to offer prospective land owners and settlers and the possibilities that are offered will be given a wide publicity by the tremendously large circulation of the combined newspapers of NorthEastern Michigan. It is believed that excellent results will follow this effort. While in Bay City the ink splatters were tendered a fine banquet by the Bay City Board of Commerce.

Michigan Happenings

Erwin Eveleth, 80, former postmaster and former mayor of Corunna, died at his home there after a long illness. As a young man, Eveleth was a timber looker and mining prospector, and is said to have discovered the ore deposits where most of the mines are now located in the upper peninsula. In the late eighties, while he was prospecting in Minnesota, he accidentally discovered an iron deposit, and on that spot now stands Eveleth, Minn., a mining town of 10,000, named for him. He is survived by nine children.

Grant Ide, of Grand Rapids, escaped death only by leaping from his coupe, just before it was hit by a locomotive. Ide had stopped before the crossing to permit the passing of a train, but his machine was struck in the rear by an automobile driven by John McCormick, and was struck directly into the path of the engine. The coupe was demolished. McCormick, in police court, pleaded not guilty to a charge of driving his automobile while intoxicated.

Orville J. Smith, Jackson, six feet and six inches tall, largest inmate of Kalamazoo State hospital, who escaped by tearing out a heavy screen from a window, was captured at Detroit. A nightwatchman found Smith whittling out a panel of the Bye Cloth store door. Earlier in the night he had broken into and looted the general store at Glewood of a suit of clothes and articles officers say.

An unidentified woman motorist ran down a 16-year-old Albert Eckler son of Lewis G. Eckler, of Flint, inflicting injuries which resulted in the lad's death. Police are seeking some clue that may lead to the identity of the driver. The boy was on his way to school and stepped from a bus in which he had been riding at Fenton road and Major streets, where he was knocked to the pavement.

"She had lost her job and I had lost mine. We didn't have anything else to do, so we got married." That is the way William Harding, 40 years old, of Lansing, explained how he and Mrs. Alta Beers, also of Lansing, came to be married in Bancroft last August, while Harding had one wife. Harding waived examination and was bound over to Circuit Court on a bigamy charge.

Death from blows on the head, administered by a person or persons unknown, was the verdict of the coroner's jury which held an inquest at Traverse City over the skeleton of Mrs. John Matice, 84 years old, who disappeared from her farm near Cedar Run in June, 1920, and whose skeleton was found a few days ago in the woods two miles from the farm by hunters.

Silas S. Main, president of the Lansing city council and junior alderman from the Eighth Ward, will serve as acting mayor of Lansing as a result of the sudden death of Mayor Jacob W. Ferle, according to John McClellan, city attorney. A mayor will be elected at the regular election next spring. Alderman Main promises to carry out the policies of Mayor Ferle.

Fenton's new waterworks plant has been completed and a try-out of the pumping system demonstrated that the centrifugal pump has a capacity of 800 gallons per minute. Operations will soon be shifted from the old plant, which has done service for 25 years, and it is alleged the new plant will result in an inconsiderable saving to the village.

About 750,000 tons of iron ore were shipped from the E-canauba docks in October. More than two and a half million tons have been shipped this season up to Nov. 1, which is greater than double the tonnage shipped in 1921, the smallest season ever experienced on the Menominee range. The shipments thus far for 1922 are far below normal.

Edward Van Ysseldyke, 17, has started to serve 60 days in the Kent county jail for firing seven shots into a Catechism class in a west side church of Grand Rapids, and which caused a panic among the girls and boys. The police were told the youth did the shooting in a fit of jealousy. Van Ysseldyke told the judge it was just in fun.

The Democrats elected George Rapin sheriff over Thomas Taylor, Republican, the only contest for county offices in Mackinac county, by 200 majority. Democrats holding the office of prosecuting attorney, treasurer and register of deeds were re-elected without opposition.

A big black bear that weighed 400 pounds has been trapped and shot by Harry Chapman, of Norway. The bear had been making frequent visits to Bert Chapman's farm for a month. Finally it stepped into a trap and was then shot.

Ernest H. Weston, who passed checks on the First National Bank of Albion, pleaded guilty in circuit court at Marshall, and Judge North sentenced him to Jackson state prison for one and one-half to 16 years.

Lyman C. Covell, who was reported killed in Des Moines, Ia., by a police ambulance was formerly manager of the Bond & Stock Service Co. In Lansing, Covell was making his headquarters in Davenport, Ia. His wife recently left for California to spend the winter.

A cash register, containing about $50 in cash and checks belonging to A. L. Tiffany, a veterinarian of Monroe, reported stolen was found concealed five hours afterwards in the bottom of a waste paper carton in the place.

FERRIS WINNER IN U. S. SENATE RACE

GOVERNOR GROESBECK AND REST OF REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET ELECTED.

INCOME TAX AMENDMENT LOST

Republican Party Also Meets Reverses in Several Other States, But Retains Control.

Lansing—Virtually complete unofficial returns put Woodbridge N. Ferris' majority against Senator Charles E. Townsend at something over 15,000 votes. Many of the precincts remaining unreported are so isolated that the exact total of votes will not have become known for a few days. The total vote cast in the Nov. 7 election was less than 600,000. This is slightly more than half the vote cast in the general election of 1920, when 1,060,000 voted.

The election of Mr. Ferris as United States Senator gives the Democratic Party its first representation in the upper house of congress in nearly

THE WINNERS.

U. S. Senator—W. N. Ferris.
Governor—Alex J. Groesbeck.
Lieut.-Governor—Thomas Read.
Secy. of State—Chas. J. DeLand.
Attorney General—Merlin Wiley.
State Treasurer—F. E. Gorman.
State Supreme Court—J. S. McDonald.
Auditor General—O. B. Fuller.

seventy years, or since the birth of the Republican Party in the retiring senator's home city, at Jackson in 1853. Senator-elect Ferris will take the oath of office March 4, 1923.

So great was the Democratic lead in Detroit and other large urban centers that the slight advantage given Senator Townsend in the rural districts was more than wiped out. Mr. Ferris had a lead of more than 20,000 in Detroit alone.

Governor Alex J. Groesbeck was given a lead of over 125,000 over his Democratic opponent for the office. Alva M. Cummins of Lansing. Mr. Cummins' greatest strength was shown in his home county of Ingham which he carried by a large majority. Senator-elect Ferris will take the oath of office March 4, 1923.

Latest figures show that the next senatorial election will have 52 Republicans, 42 Democrats and one farmer-labor representative, with results of the senatorial contest in Washington still undecided. Two recounts in senatorial contests impend.

Parties Divide Spoils in Ohio.

Columbus, Ohio—A. Victor Donahue, Democrat, of New Philadelphia, was elected governor of Ohio by a plurality of 16,230 votes over Carmel T. Thompson, Republican, of Cleveland. The complete unofficial vote for United States senator showed Congressman Simeon D. Fess, Republican, of Yellow Springs, to have defeated Senator Allee Pomerene, Democrat, of Canton, by 52,018 votes.

Delaware Republicans Ask Recount.

Wilmington, Del.—The Republican state committee of Delaware will ask for a recount in the contest for the United States senate because of the small margin of votes Thomas F. Bayard, Democrat, held over the Republican incumbent, T. Colman DuPont. Complete but unofficial returns showed a majority of 563 votes for Bayard.

Frazier Wins Close Contest.

Fargo, N. D.—The almost certain election of Lynn J. Frazier, recalled non-partisan leader governor of North Dakota, to the United States senate by the decision of T. G. Nelson, state secretary of the Independent Voters association, which supported J. F. T. O'Connor, Frazier's opponent.

Edwards Beats Senator Freylinghuysen.

Newark, N. J.—Governor Edward L. Edwards, (D.), was the choice of New Jersey voters by the safe majority of 50,000, having defeated Joseph S. Freylinghuysen, Republican incumbent and personal friend of President Harding.

Farmer-Laborers Elect Senator.

St. Paul, Minn.—Frank B. Kellogg, Republican Junor senator from Minnesota, was defeated by Dr. Henry Shipstead, Farmer-Laborite. The latter's plurality was shown in unofficial returns available here late Wednesday.

Hiram Proves Easy Winner.

San Francisco—California remained in the Republican column with the election of Friend Richardson as governor, and Hiram W. Johnson as United States senator.

Kansas Elects Democratic Governor.

Chicago, Ill.—Kansas will have a Democratic governor for the first time in ten years. This was conceded by the Kansas Republican organization, and Jonathan M. Davis, whose opponent, W. Y. Morgan, Republican, supported the Kansas industrial court act, will be the new governor. With Kansas, the Democrats in the middle west annexed the governorship in three states, the others, Ohio and Nebraska, all having had Republican governors.

Democrats Carry New York.

New York—Former Governor Alfred E. Smith, rolling up the greatest plurality New York city has ever given any candidate in any election, was swept back into the gubernatorial chair from which he had been ejected in 1920 by Governor Nathan L. Miller. Republicans not only admitted the defeat of Mr. Miller, but conceded that William M. Calder had lost his seat in the senate to Royal S. Copeland, health commissioner of New York city, formerly mayor of Ann Arbor, Mich.

Pending a decision of an appeal, Mrs. Melvin E. Trotter, wife of the Grand Rapids evangelist, was awarded $150 monthly temporary alimony and $2,500 for counsel fees and appeal expenses by the state supreme court.

Wyoming, W. B. Ross, Democrat, leading.

CLARENCE J. MCLEOD

CLARENCE J. MCLEOD

Detroit—Clarence J. McLeod, Republican congressman-elect from the Thirteenth (Detroit) district, again will be the youngest member of the national house of representatives when he takes the oath of office March 4.

He already enjoys the distinction of being the youngest man to sit in congress. In November, 1920, McLeod was elected to fill the unexpired term of the late Charles Nichols. At that time, the "boy congressman" was 25 years old.

McLeod is married and is the father of one child.

NEW SENATOR WAS WOLVERINE

Senator-Elect Howell, Nebraska, Was Born in Adrian, Mich.

Omaha, Neb.—R. B. Howell, newly elected United States senator in Nebraska, is an old Michigan boy.

Howell was born in Adrian, Mich., and was educated in the public schools of that city. He later studied law in the Detroit Law school and then came west. He also is a graduate of the U. S. Naval academy at Annapolis.

Because of a sickness which left him in a weakened condition, Howell did not remain in the navy after graduation.

He was elected Republican national committeeman over Victor Rosewater eight or ten years ago and has served on the national committee ever since. His defeat of Senator G. M. Hitchcock was the sensation of the election in Nebraska.

EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS

President Issues Proclamation for Convening Nov. 20.

Washington—Congress has been called by President Harding to meet in extra session November 20, exactly two weeks in advance of the regular session.

The call set forth as usual in the form of a proclamation declared the extra session was made necessary by public interests.

Poindexter's Defeat is Conceded.

Seattle, Wash.—"Unless discrepancies appear in the figures from counties already reported, it seems likely that C. C. Dill, the Democratic nominee, is elected," Republican State Chairman Charles Hebbert declared in a statement Thursday, referring to the United States senatorial race in which Miles Poindexter, Republican incumbent, has been running slightly behind on incomplete returns.

Electoral Results Please Wilson.

Washington—Woodrow Wilson, former president and leader of Democratic party, has been re-elected to a second term, according to the returns of the election of Nov. 7, 1920, which were certified by the electoral college.

The call set forth as usual in the form of a proclamation declared the extra session was made necessary by public interests.

Frazier Wins Close Contest.

Fargo, N. D.—The almost certain election of Lynn J. Frazier, recalled non-partisan leader governor of North Dakota, to the United States senate by the decision of T. G. Nelson, state secretary of the Independent Voters association, which supported J. F. T. O'Connor, Frazier's opponent.

Edwards Beats Senator Freylinghuysen.

Newark, N. J.—Governor Edward L. Edwards, (D.), was the choice of New Jersey voters by the safe majority of 50,000, having defeated Joseph S. Freylinghuysen, Republican incumbent and personal friend of President Harding.

Farmer-Laborers Elect Senator.

St. Paul, Minn.—Frank B. Kellogg, Republican Junor senator from Minnesota, was defeated by Dr. Henry Shipstead, Farmer-Laborite. The latter's plurality was shown in unofficial returns available here late Wednesday.

Beveridge Beaten in Indiana.

Indiana—Returns from all but 11 of the 3,395 precincts in Indiana for United States senator give: Beveridge, Republican, 519,230; Ralston, Democrat, 556,218; Henry, Socialist, 11,155.

Macomb Elects Democratic Sheriff.

Michigan—That George Smith, democrat, has been elected sheriff over the Rev. Caleb Rutledge, Republican candidate, is indicated by incomplete returns. Smith's lead is 2,000. The fight on this office was the most intense Macomb county ever has witnessed, the Rev. Rutledge coming out strongly as a "dry" and reform advocate, promising a cleanup. All other Republican candidates are believed to have been given safe majorities.

Democrats Carry New York.

New York—Former Governor Alfred E. Smith, rolling up the greatest plurality New York city has ever given any candidate in any election, was swept back into the gubernatorial chair from which he had been ejected in 1920 by Governor Nathan L. Miller.

Detroit—For the first time in nearly four years, Detroit voters have ignored the wishes of Mayor Couzens as expressed on the ballot. They repudiated all three of the street railway proposals he asked them to support. The proposition to bar interurban street cars from city streets, lost almost two to one. Certain defeat also faces the amendment providing for the transfer of cost of paying between car tracks, and the proposed $6,000,000 bond issue for municipal railway extensions.

Girl Charges Breach of Promise.

Newark, N. J.—A breach of promise suit for $200,000 was filed here by

Mrs. Lillian C. Hunter on behalf of her 20-year-old daughter, Gertrude Gladys Hunter, against Paul E. Heller.

The latter, 50 years old, is a member of one of Newark's old and wealthy families. The complaint charges that Heller proposed marriage in December, 1921, and that November 18 this year, was fixed for the wedding date.

On October 26, it is alleged, Heller declared he would not go through with the wedding.

THE CROSS-CUT

CHAPTER XVI—Continued.

So she was his friend! So all these days of waiting had not been in vain; all the cutting hopelessness of seeing her, only to have her turn away her head and fail to recognize him, had been for their purpose after all. And yet Fairchild remembered that she was engaged to Maurice Rodaine, and that the time of the wedding must be fast approaching. Perhaps there had been a quarrel, perhaps—Then he smiled. There was no perhaps about it! Anita Richmond was his friend; she had not been forced into the promise of marriage to Maurice Rodaine, but she was for her desire to reward him somehow, some way, for the attention that he had shown her and the liking that she knew existed in his heart.

Hastily Fairchild folded the paper and stuffed it into an inside pocket. Then, seeking out one of the workmen, he appointed him foreman of the gang, to take charge in his absence. Following which, he made his way out of the mine and into town, there to hire men of Mother Howard's suggestion and send them to the Blue Poppy, to take their stations every few feet along the tunnel, to appear mere spectators, but in reality to be guards who were constantly on the watch for anything untoward that might occur. Fairchild was taking no chances now. An hour more found him at the Sampier, watching the ore as it ran through the great crusher hoppers, to come forth finely crumbled powder and be sampled, ton by ton, for the assays by old Undertaker Chastine and three other men of his type, without which no sampler pays for ore. Blitzen approached, grinning.

"You guessed just about right," he announced. "That stuff's running around two hundred dollars a ton. Need any money now?"

"All you can let me have!"

"Four or five hundred? We've gotten in eight tons of that stuff already; don't guess I'd be taking any risk on that!" he chuckled. Fairchild reached for the currency eagerly. All but a hundred dollars of it would go to Mother Howard—for that debt must be paid off first. And, that accomplished, denying himself the invitation of rest that his bed held forth for him, he started out into town, apparently to loiter about the streets and receive the congratulations of the townspeople, but in reality to watch for one person and one alone—Squint Rodaine!

He saw him late in the afternoon, shambling along, his eyes glaring, his lips moving wordlessly, and he took up the trail. But it led only to the office of the Silver Queen Development company, where the scar-faced man doffed at his desk and, stuffing a cigar into his mouth, chewed on it merrily. Instinctively Fairchild knew that the greatest part of his mean temper was due to the strike in the Blue Poppy; instinctively also he felt that Squint Rodaine had known of the value all along, that now he was cursing himself for the failure of his schemes to obtain possession of what had appeared until only a day before to be nothing more than a disappointing, unlucky, ill-omened hole in the ground. Fairchild resumed his loitering, but evening found him near the Silver Queen office.

Anita's note had told him little, yet had implied much. Something was fermenting in the seething brain of Squint Rodaine, and if the post continued for anything, it was something that concerned him.

An hour more, then Fairchild suddenly sunk into the shadows of a doorway. Squint had snatched up the light and was locking the door. Fifty feet, then Fairchild stepped from the doorway and took up the trail.

It was not a hard one to follow. Squint Rodaine passed the street leading to his house without even looking up. Two blocks more, and they reached the city limits.

A mile, and they were in the open country, crossing and recrossing the ice-dotted Clear creek. A furlong more, then Squint Rodaine turned up the lane which led to a great, shambling, old, white building that, in the rosy days of the mining game, had been a roadhouse, but which now, barely furnished in only a few of its rooms, inhabited by mountain rats and fluttering bats and general decay for the most part, formed the uncomfortable abode of Crazy Laura!

And Fairchild followed. It could mean only one thing when Rodaine sought only the white-haired, mumbbling old bug whom once he had called his wife. It could mean but one outcome, and that of disaster for some one. Mother Howard had said that Crazy Laura would kill for Squint. And now that Squint Rodaine was seeking her, Fairchild meant to follow, and to hear—if such a thing were within the range of human possibility—the evil dripping of his crooked lips.

He crossed to the side of the road where ran the inevitable gully and, taking advantage of the shelter, hurried forward, smiling grimly in the darkness at the memory of the fact that things were now reversed; that he was following Squint Rodaine as Rodaine once had followed him. Swiftly he moved, closer—closer; the scar-faced man went through the tumbling gate and approached the house, not knowing that his pursuer was less than fifty yards away!

A minute of cautious waiting then, in which Fairchild did not move. Finally a light shone in an upstairs room of the house, and Fairchild, masking his own footprints in those made by Rodaine, crept to the porch. Swiftly, silently, protected by the pad of snow on the soles of his shoes, he made the doorway and softly tried the lock. It gave beneath his pressure, and he glided within the dark hallway, musty and lusty in its odor, fumbling, evil and lusty. Now Fairchild could hear voices, and in a moment more they became louder, as a door opened.

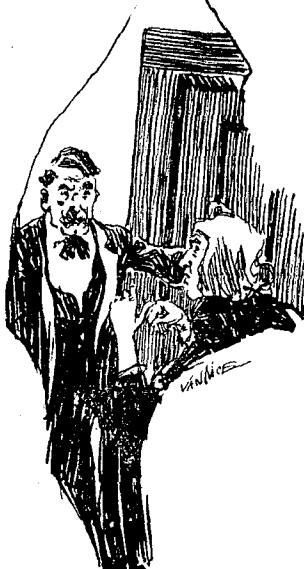

"It don't make any difference! I ain't going to stand for it! Why didn't you wait until they were both there?"

"I thought they were, Rody!" The woman's voice was whining, pleading. "Ain't you going to kiss me?" "No, I ain't going to kiss you. You went and made a mess of things." "You kissed me the night our boy was born. Remember that, Rody! Don't you remember how you kissed me then?"

"That was a long time ago, and you were a different woman then. You'd do what I tell you."

"But I do now, Rody. Honest, I do. I'll do anything you tell me to—

What Have You Got This Door Shut For?"

If you'll just be good to me. Why don't you hold me in your arms any more?"

A scuffling sound came from above. Fairchild knew that she had made an effort to clasp him to her, and that he had thrust her away. The voice came closer.

"You know what you got us into, don't you? They made a strike there today—same value as in the Silver Queen. If it hadn't been for you—"

"But they get out somehow—they always get out." The voice was high and weird now. "They're immortal. That's what they are—they're immortal. They have the gift—they can get out—"

"Bush! Course they get out when you wait until after they're gone. Why, one of 'em was downtown at the assayers, so I understand, when you went in there."

"But the other—he's immortal. He got out—"

"You're crazy!"

"Yes, crazy!" She suddenly shrieked at the word. "That's what they all call me—Crazy Laura. But I ain't—he ain't! I know—they're immortal, just like the others were immortal! I can't hold 'em when they've got the spirit that rises above—I've tried, ain't I—and I've only got one!"

Squint's voice became suddenly excited. "One—what one?"

"I'm not going to tell. But I know—I know!"

There was silence then for a moment, and Fairchild, huddled in the darkness below, felt the creeping, crawling chill of horror pass over him as he listened. Above were a rogue and a lunatic, discussing between them what, at times, seemed to concern him and his partner; more, it seemed to go back to other days, when other men had worked the Blue Poppy and met misfortunes.

Squint Rodaine was talking again.

"So you're not going to tell me about the one, eh? What have you got this door shut for?"

"No door's shut."

"It is—don't you think I can see? This door leading into the front room."

The sound of heavy shoes, followed by a lighter tread. Then a scream above which could be heard the jangling of a rusty lock and the bumping shoulder against wood. High and strident came Crazy Laura's voice:

"Stay out of there—I tell you, Rody! Stay out of there! It's something that mortals shouldn't see—it's something—stay out—stay out!"

"I won't—unlock this door!"

"I can't do it—the time hasn't come yet—I mustn't—"

"You won't—well, there's another way." A crash, the sudden, stumbling feet of a man, then the scratching of a match and an exclamation: "So this is your immortal, eh?"

Only a moaning answered, moaning intermingled with some vague form of a weird chant, the words of which Fairchild in the musty, dark hall below could not distinguish. At last came Squint's voice again, this time in softened tones:

"Laura—Laura, Honey."

"Yes, Squint."

"Why didn't you tell your sweet heart about this?"

"I mustn't—you've spoilt it now, Rody."

"No—Honey, I can show you the way. He's nearly gone. What were you going to do when he went—?"

"He'd have dissolved in air, Rody—I know. The spirits have told me."

"Perhaps so." The voice of the scar-faced, mean-visaged Squint Rodaine was still honeyed, still enjollied. "Perhaps so—but not at once. Isn't there a barrel of time in the basement?"

"Yes."

"Come downstairs with me."

They started downward then, and Fairchild watched them pass, Rodaine in the lead, carrying a smoking lamp with its half-broken chimney, careening on the base, Crazy Laura, mumbiling her toothless gums, her hag-like hands extended before her, shuffling along in the rear. He heard them go far to the rear of the house, then descend more stairs. And he went flat to his stomach on the floor, with his ear against a tiny chink that he might

CHAPTER XVI.

So this explained, after a fashion, the woman's disappearance. This revealed why the search through the mountains had failed. This—

But Fairchild suddenly realized that now was not a time for conjecturing upon the past. The man on the bed was unconscious, incapable of helping himself. Far below, a white-haired woman, her toothless jaws uttering one weird chant after another, was digging for him a quicklime grave, in the insane belief that she was aiding in accomplishing some miracle of immortality. In time—and Fairchild did not know how long—an ill-vised, scar-faced man would return to help her carry the inert frame of the unconscious man below and bury it. Nor could Fairchild tell from the conversation whether he even intended to perform the merciful act of killing the poor, broken being before he covered it with quicklime and quick-eating lime in a grave that soon would remove all vestige of human identity forever.

Certainly now was not a time for thought; it was one for action! And for caution. Instinct told Fairchild that for the present, at least, Rodaine must believe that Harry had escaped unaided. There were too many other things in which Robert felt sure Rodaine had played a part, too many other mysterious happenings which must be met and coped with, before the man of the blue-white scarf could know that finally the underling was beginning to show fight, that at last the crushed bird began to rise. Fairchild bent and unlaced his shoes, taking off also the heavy woolen socks which protected his feet from the biting cold. Steeling himself to the ordeal which he must undergo, he tied the laces together and slung the footgear over a shoulder. Then he went to the bed.

As carefully as possible, he wrapped Harry in the blankets, seeking to protect him in every way against the cold. With a great effort, he lifted him, the sick man's frame huddled in his arms like some gigantic baby, and started out of the eerie, darkened house.

The stairs—the landing—the hall!

Then a query from below:

"Is that you, Rody?"

The breath pulled sharp into Fairchild's lungs. He answered in the best imitation that he could give of the voice of Squint Rodaine:

"Yes. Go on with your digging, Honey. I'll be there soon."

"And you'll kiss me?"

"Yes. Just like I kissed you the night our boy was born."

It was sufficient. The chanting began again, accompanied by the swish of the spade as it sank into the earth and the clinging coil of the cloths as they were thrown to one side. Fairchild gained the door. A moment more and he staggered with his burden into the protecting darkness of the night.

The snow crept about his ankles, seeming to freeze them at every touch, but Fairchild did not desist. His original purpose must be carried out. Rodaine were not to know—the appearance that Harry had aroused him sufficiently to wrap the blankets about him and wander off by himself. And this could be accomplished only by the pain and cold and torture of a barefoot trip.

Some way, by shifting the big frame of his unconscious partner now and then, Fairchild made the trip to the main road and veered toward the pumphouse of the Diamond J. mine, running as often did without attendance while the engineer made a trip with the electric motor into the hill. Cautiously he peered through the windows. No one was there. Beyond lay warmth and comfort—and a telephone. Fairchild went within and placed Harry on the floor. Then he reached for the phone and called the hospital.

"Hello!" he announced in a husky, disguised voice. "This is Ish Gresham of Georville. I've just found a man lying by the side of the Diamond J. pumphouse, unconscious, with a big cut in his head. I've brought him inside. You'll find him there; I've got to go on. Looks like he's liable to die unless you can send the ambulance for him."

"We'll make it a rush trip," came the answer, and Fairchild hung up the phone, to rub his half-frozen, aching feet a moment, then to retrace them in the socks and shoes, watching the entrance of the Diamond J. tunnel as he did so. A long minute—then he left.

After-Care Needed to Bring Permanent TB. Recoveries

"Rest and good food, fresh air and freedom from worry", the sanatorium superintendent told John Reilly, when he gave him his final chest examination.

John was not cured, of course, but he was so much improved that the superintendent believed that he might complete the cure in his own home.

But at home John Reilly had three children and a frail wife, and rest, on which the doctor had laid so much emphasis, was a prescription he could not follow except at their expense. Ten days after he left the sanatorium he went to work at his old job on the section.

Last week, in answer to a letter of inquiry, he wrote this account of himself to the Michigan Tuberculosis Association:

"We were laying rails this summer and the boss put me to flagging or I couldn't have stood it.

"I haven't had any examination since I left the sanatorium. I have lost some weight and I have been having some pleurisy pains in my right lung for the last month."

pitifully little is the Michigan Tuberculosis Association able to do for him. He is not a pauper; he told with pride that he had a house and lot on which he had paid six hundred dollars. Given a chance to take proper care of himself for a few months longer, he might reasonably look forward to a normal life-span. But if he must struggle through days of pain and weakness now, in the hopeless effort to do the work of a well man, the end of John Reilly's story is certain and near at hand.

After-care of consumptives should be provided in Michigan. Tuberculosis Christmas seals will help to meet the need.

OTSEGO COUNTY POTATOES TAKE FIRST PRIZE AT INTERNATIONAL SHOW.

Specimen Exhibited Accorded First Honors Among Entries From All Over Country.

At the International Potato Show, held at Duluth, Minn., last week, Otsego County was awarded the highest honors in the Rural Russet class on an exhibit of 32 tubers made in the name of Ernest Pettifor, well-known Hallowick farmer.

This information was conveyed in a letter to County Agent Lytle from Mr. D. B. Jewell of Cheboygan, who had charge of the Michigan exhibit.

Second honors were awarded to Brady Bros., of Wolverine; third to Frank Wyrick of Alanson; fourth to Lee Sneathen of Charlevoix; fifth, W. F. Thomas of Afton.

In the certified seed class, all varieties, Brady Bros., of Wolverine took second prize.

It is said that the quality of all specimens exhibited was excellent, but that the show as a whole was not quite so large as a year ago.

County Agent Lytle should be given considerable credit for his efforts to secure a prize-winning exhibit at the International. This is the first year that Otsego county has been represented at the show, and the result is most gratifying to all. It merely goes to show that as a potato region (Otsego county) is not excelled, and gives promise that the day will some time come when she will lead Michigan and perhaps the rest of the mid-western states in both quality and quantity.

Woman's Case Amazes Grayling

A business man's wife suffered for two years with sore, watery eyes, which pained day and night. Finally she tried simple camphor, hydrosol, witchhazel, etc., as mixed in Lavoptik eye wash. This helped her AT ONCE. Another lady reports "it leaves eyes cool and fresh." One small bottle Lavoptik usually helps ANY CASE of eye strain, strained or inflamed eyes. Aluminum eye cup FREE. A. M. Lewis, druggist.

State of Michigan, The Circuit Court for the County of Crawford in Chancery. Ida E. Parker, Plaintiff, vs. Matthew H. Parker, Defendant.

Suit pending in the Circuit Court for Crawford County, in Chancery, on the 10th day of November, A. D. 1922 at the Village of Grayling, in said county.

It satisfactorily appearing to the court by affidavit on file that a chancery summons has been duly issued out of and under the seal of said court for the appearance of said defendant therein, and that the same could not be served on said defendant because that after diligent search and inquiry it could not be ascertained in what state or country the defendant resides, or the whereabouts of the defendant learned, and that said chancery summons has been returned by the sheriff of said county with his certificate thereon endorsed that after diligent search and inquiry he was unable to find the defendant within the State of Michigan, on or before the return day or said summons, on motion of Homer L. Fitch, attorney for the plaintiff, it is ordered, that the said defendant, Matthew H. Parker, cause his appearance to be entered in this cause within three months after the date of this order, and in case of his appearance that he cause his answer to the plaintiff's bill of complaint to be filed, and a copy thereof served upon the plaintiff's attorney, within twenty days after service on him of a copy of said bill and notice of this order, and that in default thereof said bill be taken as confessed by said defendant.

And on like motion it is further ordered that within twenty days after the date hereof, the plaintiff cause a notice of this order to be published in the Crawford Avalanche, a newspaper printed, published, and circulating in said county of Crawford, and that such publication be continued at least once in each week for six weeks in succession, or that he cause a copy of this order to be personally served upon said defendant, at least twenty days before the time above prescribed for his appearance.

It is further ordered that within forty days from date of this order that said plaintiff cause a copy thereof to be published in the Crawford Avalanche, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Crawford and that such publication be continued therein once each week for six weeks in succession.

And on like motion, it is further ordered that the said plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be mailed to said defendant, at his last known postoffice address, by registered mail, and a return receipt demanded, at least twenty days before the date herein prescribed for his appearance.

It is further ordered that within forty days from date of this order that said plaintiff cause a copy thereof to be published in the Crawford Avalanche, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Crawford and that such publication be continued therein once each week for six weeks in succession.
